

Youths 'listen to river'

Several local youths recently participated in the Listening to the River project in Marquette, sponsored by the Superior Watershed Partnership and the U.P. Children's Museum through a grant from the National Science Foundation. From left are Jessica Murphy, Corina Porres, Ringo McPherson, Kayla Lopez, Payton Muljo, Katie Nebel, Megan Johnson, Alena Lopez and Kathryn Johnson. LTTR is a multi-disciplinary education project that engages students in the scientific exploration and documentation of their local watershed. For more information, visit www.listeningtotheriver.org or www.superiorwatersheds.org.

Mining Journal May 6, 2009